GO, BROWN AND GOLD!

(TECH BATTLE SONG)

The musical score is written for a group of voices and piano accompaniment. It consists of three systems of music. The first system has four staves: a vocal line with lyrics 'Go, brown and gold!', a vocal line with lyrics 'Fight for old Tech!', and two piano accompaniment staves. The second system has four staves: a vocal line with lyrics 'Go, brown and gold!', a vocal line with lyrics 'Go, brown and gold!', and two piano accompaniment staves. The third system has four staves: a vocal line with lyrics 'Make go + make cheer + Go +', a vocal line with lyrics 'Make go + make cheer + Go +', and two piano accompaniment staves. The piano accompaniment features a steady bass line and chords in the right hand.

NORTHWEST INDIANA
CONFERENCE CROWN

During their '65-66 football season, the tigers had many achievements but their most outstanding was their sharing of the Northwest Indiana High School Conference Football championship title with Horace Mann of Gary. The winning of this title was due to the Tiger's conference record, five wins and one tie. This was the first time in the school's history that such a football title had been won. ## In Shops

Tech students were on the go—getting things done—learning to weld, to operate a cash register, to make production drawings; in a myriad of activities, they were on their way to vocational competence and to a certain life's vocation as a result of that competence.

Tech students, records show, tend to find and to keep jobs for which they received training. As an example, a study of 1955 graduates showed that ten years later two-thirds of the boys were working in jobs directly or closely related to their Tech training. Also, yearly checks show 85 to 90 per cent of all graduates who seek jobs being placed on jobs correlated with their work at Tech; in 1965, the figure was 89 per cent. (Average for the State has been 65 per cent.) These figures do not include those who entered college or the armed forces or girls who married immediately after high school. (See Shop section beginning on Page 32.)

SCHOOL ON THE GO!

In Classes

Tech students were on the go—striving in geography class to understand the world about them, in math to solve more and more complex problems; in countless intellectual pursuits they grew toward more fulfilled persons.

Each Tech student has had administered to him the Iowa Test of Educational Development twice—once as a freshman and again as a senior—to view progress made in Tech classes. Tech students consistently show improvement over four years at an approximate 20 per cent higher rate than that made by the average U.S. high school student. (See Class section beginning on page 54.)

THE GO!

In Activities

Tech students were on the go—experiencing the planning of a party and the joy of its success—thrilling to the applause of an audience that acknowledges hard work put into a play or concert. A special quality—typical of Tech students—a mixture of courtesy and friendliness—made possible the kind of cooperative effort needed for Tech's record successes in activities during the year.

The following are the kinds of comments made by visitors to Tech during the year:

A Swedish girl: "After visiting a number of high schools all over America, I feel that the students at HammondTech are by far the friendliest and most warm-hearted, and also very polite."

A visiting performer: "... the reception given the singing by your student body filled us with awe."

A parent with touring eighth graders: "This tour was handled with unusual tact, courtesy, and decorum by the numerous educators and students who were designated to help with this project."

Ackerman - Homecoming Queen

B-team Cheerleaders hold the hoop while fighting Tech. Tigers emerge to do battle with Whiting.

Lamont runs a left tackle slant for needed yardage.

100 Car Parade

Despite a last minute postponement of Homecoming from Oct. 22 to Oct. 23, the Tech Tigers had fun anyway. A 100-float parade was followed at 2 p.m. by a game with Clark, which ended in a 6-6 tie. Our only score was on a 44-yard fumble runback. At half time Jim Earl received the king award for Tom Martin, and Sandy Ackerman was named queen. Prizes for the best floats went to Janice Baradziej, Y-Teens, Foundry Shop, and the Senior class. The Homecoming Soc-Hop was Saturday night.

Tigers dive and drive to stop the opposition.

SPORTS

Sandy Ackerman and Tommy Martin reigned as Homecoming King and Queen. Jim Earl is shown here substituting for Tam.

"Get ahead of those Pioneers" was the theme of the Foundry Shop's float, which won first place in shop division.

Christine Suraviak and Janice Baradziej, sophomores, took first place for individual entries.

Last year's King and Queen and the twirlers lead the candidates across the field.

Y-Teens received first place for club division in the Homecoming Parade.

The mighty Seniors won first place in the class division with the theme-"Keep the Tigers in the Driver's Seat."

Even the band members were open mouthed over the action at the playoff game.

Another muddy pile-up as a player goes down!

Playoff Game: Mud! Mud!

After winning the '66 Northwest Conference Championship, the fighting Tigers traveled to South Bend where they did battle in a playoff game with the South Bend Riley Wildcats. After entering a gridiron thick with mud, the Tigers buckled down and fought with all their might. Then in the second quarter they started a 53-yard drive for Tech's only touchdown which was followed by a successful kick for an extra point. The Wildcats, working hard to hold us back, pulled out in front in the final half and won with a score of 12-7.

Cooch Viellieu sends in Lomont and Wainscott to make some points!

'Most Satisfying Season': Viellieu

Pile up demonstrates Tiger enthusiasm and endurance in all their games.

"This past football season was one of the most satisfying seasons I have experienced." These were the words of Varsity football coach, Walt Viellieu, as he accredited the Tigers with the tremendous '65-'66 gridiron season. This was one season to remember, for among the outstanding events of the season were a 26-13 triumph over Merrillville, our first victory over E.C. Roosevelt in 15 years, 20-14, and the winning of the Northwest Conference Championship, the first in Tech's history.

SHOPS

Exploratory Electric is taking a test on electrical theory.

Explaining projects in Mr. Stemper's Exploratory Wood Shop are Donald Dunn, David Niemeth, and Kevin Laurant.

Frosh Took Four Shops

In 1966 all freshman boys were required to take four nine-week introductory shops in each of the four shop areas taught at Tech to allow them to see which areas of training best suited them. The shops were Exploratory Electric, which was basic introduction to electricity; Exploratory Drafting, which was basic introduction to drafting; Exploratory Metal, which introduced tools, machines, operations, and materials; and Exploratory Wood, which taught basic tools, tool operations, and materials.

Mr. Stemper instructs students, John Meniala and Richard Buckler, on their finished projects.

Bill Robinson is showing Gale Bannema and Don Sheline how to square up pieces of stock in Mr. O'Keefe's Exploratory Metals Shop.

Roger Thockerson is drawing a three-view in Mr. Shreffler's Exploratory Drafting Shop.

Mr. Shreffler helps James Blair in Exploratory Drafting.

Tech Gave All Phases Of Printing

Checking a page in Printing is Tom Gendron, Mr. DeLoney, and Wilson Hinkel.

Print Shop students during the year trained in all areas of the graphic arts. Beginning students learned manual and machine typesetting, binding of printed material, and use of offset and platen presses. Experienced students proceeded to learn the use of vertical presses, the Linotype machine, and to design a basic one-color through four-color displays. Advanced students, who prepared offset negatives and plates for the Tech Times, were trained in all phases of offset printing. As a part of their training, students printed tickets, posters, and other materials for school organizations.

Tech Shops Made Items For Schools

Tom Scholler is shearing metal in preparation for making wastebaskets in Mr. Turner's Sheet Metal Shop.

Tom Cholifoux is brazing a wastebasket in Mr. Kennedy's Welding Shop.

Fellow students look on as Lorry Taylor stocks newly-completed wastebaskets in Sheet Metal Shop.

In 1966 students in two shops combined their efforts and made items for use in Hammond Public Schools. For example, Sheet Metal Shop took black iron frames of expanded steel, measured them, cut them, formed them into parts for wastebaskets, and partially assembled them. Weld Shop students then welded the pieces together. Other items that shops have made were bicycle racks in Foundry Shop and Weld Shop, radio chassis in Sheet Metal Shop and Electronics, and an instrument panel in Sheet Metal Shop and Electric 2.

Mr. Jonduro is going over plans with Steve Provance, Vocational Drafting student, who helped draw up plans for the French fry cutter.

Del Knight is showing Mr. Schow, his Pattern Shop Instructor, the pattern he is making for the French fry cutter.

Four Shops Made French Fry Cutter

In 1966, students learned about manufacturing processes. Four shops were involved in constructing a French fry cutter, for example, which would cut a whole potato into French fries in one operation. As a first step, Drafting Shop students drew up production drawings of the cutter. After reproductions were made of the working drawings, Pattern Shop students made patterns of each piece according to specifications. A duplication of each piece constructed of wood was then sent to the Foundry Shop. Molds, utilizing the patterns, were prepared and molten metal was poured into molds for rough castings. Machine Shop students then performed operations involving removal of metal to obtain dimensions and surface finish. After assembly of the finished pieces, the completed cutter was ready for use.

Joe Kalamorayk is machining the castings for a French fry cutter.

Pouring the mold for the French fry cutter is Ronald Wess and James Parrish in Mr. Ranney's Forge and Foundry Shop.

Machining a part of the French fry cutter is a student in Machine shop.

Fred Little, Machine Shop student, assembles the French fry cutter.

Don Newlin is checking the voltage on the picture tube of a television to see if it is operating correctly in electronics.

Clorence Relinski is changing spark plugs in Mr. Ford's Auto 1 class.

Mr. Norris is instructing Bruce Rok and Gary Bisbee from an auto manual in Auto 2.

Mr. Jones shows how to test a temperature switch to Paul Lorzowski and Jack Hoviland in Home Appliance Shop.

Items Repaired

In Five Shops

In 1966, Tech boys were offered a choice of five different shops in which to learn how to repair items. Auto 1 taught basic instruction in the repair of two-cycle engines like those used in lawnmowers and in some repair and maintenance of autos. Auto 2 concerned the instruction in the repair and maintenance of automobiles. Electronics Shop involved checking, testing, and repairing of radio and television sets. Home Appliance Shop included the repair of such appliances as washers, dryers, and electric coffee pots. Electric 2 students learned to repair electric motors.

Resoldering a bad connection in a radio is Paul Miller as Mr. Buehrle, the electronics instructor, looks on.

Mr. Ford watches Satero Navarra and James Graham overhauling a lawn mower engine in Auto 1.

Clarence Relinski is working on the distributor while Mr. Ford, Gary Alenowski, Rager Dziepak look on.

Removing a cylinder head in Auto 2 is Mike Suravick and Dan Alexander.

Boys Learned Building Trades

Four shops gave students training that might someday lead to a job in one of the building construction trades. Electric 1 students wired an actual "practice" house built right into the shop. In Electric 1 and 2 students were taught basic telephone circuits, applied signal wiring, and house wiring. Pipefitting Shop students, also gaining experience in a "practice" house, worked on hot water circulation systems, and also learned to cut, to thread, and to assemble various kinds of pipe. Carpentry Shop students learned how a house is constructed by designing and building scale model homes and garages to blueprint specifications. They also learned uses for types of wood and gained experience using hand tools and portable machinery.

Dan Shupe and Rich Barteli are constructing a model home in Mr. Jarvis's Carpentry Shop.

Dennis Radalak is connecting a hot water heater in Mr. Zink's Pipefitting Shop.

John Pavich is examining a fuse box in Mr. Kamplier's Electric 1 class.

David Piris is wiring light fixtures in Electric 1.

Mr. Hobbs supervises as George Fulton shows Harry Gossler how to troubleshoot a house wiring mock-up in Electric 2.

Wally Peleshenko is working on his model home while Bob Ingram, shop foreman, looks on in Mr. Joris's Carpentry Shop.

Two New Shops Were Begun In '66

ALTERATIONS—In 1966 students were offered a new course which involved the altering of men's and women's clothing. The course was started as a result of a need for clothing maintenance specialists by the retail stores in the community. Tech students were invited to bring their own clothes and get them tailored free of charge.

DIVERSIFIED COOPERATIVE EDUCATION—During the year of '66, juniors and seniors were offered a new course which allowed them to learn a trade by working on a job in industry one half day. The other half they attended academic classes along with one hour of occupationally related class work.

Tam Lewandowski, D.C.E. student, is being shown the proper use of a micrometer by his brother, Mike Lewandowski, at Industrial Tool Company.

Mrs. Miller, alterations instructor, is helping Helen Turner while Kitty Basham works alone.

David McCormick, D.C.E. student, is helped by Mr. Norman Jones, foreman at Champion Corporation. David is learning to be an arc welder.

Everyone in Mrs. A. Wood's Clothing 2 class is busy working on projects.

Decorating Christmas cookies in Mrs. William's Foods 2 are Yolanda Lesniewski, Joyce Hector, and Wanda Seitz.

Being served by Shirley Anderson at the Foods class Christmas tea are Trilly Cole, Pat Bodnor, and Robin Miller.

Girls Cooked And Sewed

Freshman girls in 1966 took both foods and clothing courses. Home Economics majors were able to take up to four semesters of each. Foods classes taught girls to plan, to prepare, and to serve well-balanced meals at low cost. In clothing, girls learned to make such items as skirts, blouses, dresses, and suits.

Linda Fisher is pinning up a hem of a dress modeled by Susie Johnson as Jeannie Novulich looks on in Mrs. A. Woods Clothing 2 class.

Cutting Christmas cookies in Mrs. William's Foods 2 class are Melody Markonich and Judy Tondorich.

Marilyn Moser is putting the finishing touches on her project in Clothing 4.

All the girls are busy in Mrs. A. Wood's Clothing 1 class.

D.E. And Food Service

Marketing, Merchandising, and Management were taught in Distributive Education. These programs laid a solid foundation of good work habits and aided students in understanding the importance of a job. Salesmanship taught the selling process; Retailing students studied selling, sales, promotion, and customer service; Merchandising taught retail business; Related D. E. allowed seniors to work during afternoons on a job.

Trained Students On The Job

Food Service gave students training in a field that needed more workers. Students learned about equipment, sanitation, food spoilage, and preparing and serving of food. Students who majored in Foods Service helped manage a class, took inventory, and learned ways to save time. Food majors could work in a restaurant for shop credit; the employer and the school evaluated the student's work.

Girls Learned Care of Home

Joyce Allen and Catherine Eogen practice hanging bed linens in Miss Daggett's Home Nursing class.

For a better understanding of home life and home care, students were required to take Family Living, Homemaking, and Home Management. Home Management taught the girls about furniture styles and arrangements as well as color schemes, home cleaning, different types of floors, and household repairs including minor plumbing jobs. Social behavior, good grooming, and home problems were among the topics taught in the Family Living class. To learn about first aid in the home and how to take care of the sick and injured, girls were offered a course called Home Nursing.

Mrs. Higgins receives an enthusiastic response to one of her questions in her Family Living class.

Miss Thomas asks Sue Larson about the dress she designed.

Shirley Knight, Miss Frame (student teacher), Jay Canavan, and Ollie Bailey discuss house plans in Miss Daggett's Home Management class.

Miss Daggett's student teacher, Miss Frame, discusses a home management assignment.

Future Stenos, Clerks, Bookkeeper

Pat Anderson is working on a job on the rotary calculator in Comptometer class.

Nancy Vones types her jobs in Mrs. Dewiler's Typing 2 class.

Everyone in Personal Typing is busy taking timings.

Mr. Frazier is discussing the operation of the Comptometer with his class.

Mr. Reyma instructs his Typing 1 class.

Doing daily assignments is Mrs. V. Wood's Record Keeping class.

Miss Abarr is discussing jobs with her Practical Service class.

Trained at Tech

Tech students took classes in which they acquired skills needed by stenographers, office clerks, and bookkeepers. Filing students kept neat, up-to-date files. Business machines students learned to add, subtract, multiply, and divide on business machines. Bookkeeping classes taught the correct way of recording business transactions. Practical Service and Introduction to Business provided basic training for specialized business studies. Students learned the basic principles of typing special forms of letters in Typing 1 and 2. In Personal Typing, students learned typing for personal use. Shorthand students learned to take dictation from 60 to 100 words per minute. Business Essentials provided students with information about job interviews, insurance, and income taxes.

Randy Brawn is showing some girls how to punch in and out on a time clock in Mr. Velligan's Introduction to Business class.

Carmen Hernandez places completed index cards in her personal file in Mr. Mezura's Filing class.

Mrs. V. Wood explains different types of insurance to her Business Essentials class.

Miss Abarr is helping Veronica Littell with her outlines in Shorthand.

Pat Horvath is going over yearbook receipts in Chart Bookkeeping.

Running the Mimeograph in Typing 4 is Pat Graham and Sandy Hanish.

Sorting papers in Typing 3 is Karen Myszak, Candy Langer, and Martha Webber.

Students Viewed 'Day at Office'

"Live" office work gave students a glimpse of a "day at the office." Office Practice students did actual school clerical work. Chart Bookkeeping students kept records for the yearbook. Typing 3 and 4 and Transcription students worked on production jobs and took dictation.

Dorothy Bukowski is transcribing her notes on the new I.B.M. typewriter in Transcription class.

Pulling cards from the office files is Muriel Ramsey in Office Practice.

Two experiments in English instruction highlighted the English curriculum in 1966. English syntax was introduced as an experimental form of programmed learning. A language Lab was also used on an experimental basis by Mrs. Darlene Kackley's speech students. These students listened to tapes they made to evaluate their own speeches. English language arts classes offered to students in '66 were journalism, speech, literature, composition, and drama. Eight semesters of English were required by every student.

Mrs. Kackley works on an experiment, "a language lab," with her speech students.

Mr. Paschen instructs his freshman English class in library procedures.

New Language Instruction Tried

Mrs. Burr discusses verbs with her seventh hour Spanish class.

Students discuss their editorials in Mr. Clyne's journalism class.

Macbeth is the main subject of Mr. Roepler's seventh hour English 8 class.

Diane Kugler is giving a speech on banana cake in Mrs. Lucille Parre's English 7 class.

Students Toured City Hall

Mr. H.A. Carlson discusses semester grades with Terry Poris.

Government students in 1966 studied the theory of government in class but saw government in action on a tour of City Hall. Government classes also organized a drive to help the boys in Viet Nam, social studies classes helped support our Korean orphan, Oh Sae Won, and economics classes toured the Hoosier State Bank. The social studies curriculum included U. S. history, economics, government, world history, and geography.

Mr. Osburn leads class discussion in his seventh hour Vocational World History class.

Mr. Lentvorsky, Geography Instructor, looks on as John Rokosz locates various countries on the globe.

Mayor Dowling talks briefly to Tech seniors during City Hall tour.

Current events are being discussed by Miss Peehl and her sixth hour Government class.

Students listen attentively as Mr. Callantine gives them an oral test in Economics.

Mr. Barker, substituting for Mr. Jukes, is helping Ernie Dillan, Bob Hargis, and Edward Stephens find the diameter of a metal pipe.

Jo Ann Tschoulas explains an Algebra problem in Mr. Jukes first hour class.

Mr. Fuller is taking attendance in his Algebra 2 class.

Discussing the functions of a graph is Mr. Fuller in his first hour Trigonometry class.

Mrs. Jones explains a problem to her 3rd hour Business Math class.

Students work diligently in Miss Olive Wade's Math 1 class.

Russell Alleto does a problem as Mr. Juvonn instructs him.

A Math Class For Every Need

Efforts were made to provide a math course to fit the needs of every student. Shop math class, as an example, presented math instruction to the student as it applied to problems he encountered in the shop he was taking. Likewise, a student planning to go to college was offered a full array of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Business math was taken by the student who planned to go out into the business world. Special math classes were provided for students who had special math needs.

Jerry Rodgers and Allan Zlotarich work with magnets in Mrs. Marrow's Physical Science 2 class.

Science Was Taught In Five Labs

Science students were able to further their knowledge of all phases of science through study and experiment in Tech's five modern classrooms and labs. Students on the Technical course were required to take chemistry, physics, and biology. Vocational students were required to take general and physical science. Elementary principles of physics and chemistry were taught in General Science class.

Bill Rodgers, Steve Miller, Ken Pazdut, Sherdell Mardis, Joe Skratsky, and Ray Jackson look on as Mr. Stafford explains the stability of flight to his first hour General Science class.

A problem was discussed by Mrs. Davis in her chemistry class.

Mr. Welty conducts an experiment about friction in his physics class.

Tom Domalik and Greg Mikulski study plants which students grew.

Mrs. Shirley Mehleck, R.N., school nurse, looks on as Linda Wastlewski, nurse's aide, removes a splinter from Melvin De Roll's finger.

Physical Fitness Stressed

Boy's gym class gets ready for an exciting ball drill.

Tech's program included classes designed to teach safety practices in home and community, the value of physical fitness, and the value of good health habits. All students were required to take gym class during the freshmen year. It was offered as an elective to other students. Students who took Health and Safety studied nutrition, first aid, care of the body, safety practices, and anatomy.

Sondy Cummins is pointing out a shoulder muscle to her Health and Safety classmates. Mr. R.M. Wilson is the instructor.

Bobby Kelly has his temperature taken by Linda Wasilewski, nurse's assistant.

Students Learned To Appreciate Fin

Working hard in Miss Clency's Art class is Dave Hildreth.

Piano class was appreciated by many students.

Study hall is a good place to catch up on that last minute homework.

Students were given the chance to learn to appreciate the fine arts. Those students interested in art were able to express themselves in various projects they made in Art Class. Students with musical ability could either participate in Band, in one of the many vocal music groups or as a student in Piano Class or Music Appreciation Class. Tech Times and Chart students were given the opportunity to write and take pictures. Visual aid class and study hall were also offered as electives.

Mrs. Lewis instructs Robert Kesler on a problem in Civics.

Mr. Rudd shows C.L. Heddon how to overage his semester grade in Developmental Math.

Students Got Special Help

Tech provided services and classes to help each student make the most of his abilities. Though a student, for example, might have been reading well enough to make good grades, he knew he could read still more efficiently; he found help in Developmental Reading class. Other students with special needs found help in Special Education Classes. All students were helped to find proper courses through a newly-enriched counseling program.

Mr. Rudd answers Bob Gower's questions about grade averages.

Mr. Shields looks on as Bob Gower and Mitchell Cordell work on their semester project.

Vocal Concert..

'Fall Musicale'

The Choral Department presented its first fall concert, "The Fall Musicale," Nov. 10, under the direction of Miss Virginia Volkman and Mr. Karl Krueger, vocal music instructors. The concert featured the blues of the early 1930's. The groups participating in this program were Mixed Glee Club, Girls' Choir, Madrigal Singers, and Concert Choir.

The combined groups, accompanied by Steve Mc Keighan, freshman, sing the finale number, "Born to be Free."

The Pep Band joined the combined groups in the finale at the vocal music concert.

ACTIVITIES

Accompanying the Girls' Glee Club in the Fall Musicale is Miss Virginia Volkman, vocal music instructor.

Led by Miss Virginia Volkman, vocal music instructor, the Choir sings during the Fall Musicales.

Directing the Boy's Chorus is Mr. Karl Krueger, vocal music instructor.

Miss Ester Waterbury, music supervisor, accompanies the Girl's Chorus as Miss Volkman directs them.

Winter Band

Concert Given

Mr. Arnold Robinson, director, leads the band.

The Annual Winter Band Concert was presented on Jan. 14, in the Auditorium. The band was led by Mr. Arnold Robinson, director, and Gary Huddleston, student director. There was also a piano solo by William Spork, freshman.

An abandoned trombone means that Gary Huddleston, student director, is leading the band.

The drum section awaits entrance.

Ed Stevens, bass player, concentrates on his playing during the band concert.

Play Given For P.T.A.

"The P.T.A. Needs You" was the name of the play given in March for the Tech P.T.A. by Tech Drama students. The theme of the play, which was that the P.T.A. needs fathers as well as mothers to help find solutions to problems confronting the home, the school, and the community, tied in with the general discussion of the meeting.

Mr. Parson, principal, and Mrs. Joseph Markanich, P.T.A. president, discuss matters to be discussed at the meeting.

P.T.A. members listen attentively at the meeting.

Mrs. Markanich and Mr. Borman, junior counselor, look over the amount of money for a P.T.A. scholarship for a Tech student.

Vince Formaso shakes hands with Lester Patton in the play.

Annie Get Your Gun . . . . .

Sitting Bull tries to scalp Dolly Tate because she tried to fix Annie's guns so she would lose the shooting match.

"Oh! So you just sneaked into town to look us over," said Charlie Davenport to Pownee Bill.

Annie Oakley is being adopted into the tribe as Sitting Bull's daughter.

Frank Butler, played by Darnell Sitton, is angry because Annie Oakley is getting top billing in the Wild West Show.

Senior Play

The Senior Class presents their class play, "Annie Get Your Gun," Nov. 30. In this Western Comedy, Kathy Zowny played Annie, who, with her gun ready, boasted she could outshoot Frank Butler, played by Darnell Sitton. Her play was added by other characters including Buffalo Bill, Dan Lachut; Charlie Davenport, Dan Betustak; Mac Butler, Ray Redding; Dolly Tate, Pat Horvatich; Winnie Tate, Mary Skratsky.

Sitting Bull has just broken the news that he is going to put money into show business.

"I won't leave my husband," shouts Winnie, played by Mary Skratsky.

Annie Oakley, played by Kathy Zarrowny, boasts that she can outshoot anyone in the West.

Linda Schmidt and Dorothy Bukowski are dressed as two phantoms.

The Jaguars provided the music.

Mary Shaw and Ron Remesnek received the awards for the best costumes.

Junior-Senior

'Mardi Gras'

"Mardi Gras," the Junior-Senior Party, was presented on Nov. 5. The party was given by the seniors in honor of the juniors. Awards were presented to Mary Shaw and Ron Remesnek for having the most original costumes. The music for the party was provided by the Jaguars.

CLASS SONG

(Tune: "When The Saints Go Marching In")
Please meet the "Best."
Yes, we said "Best."
The Best class in the land.
We are talking of Tech's Juniors,
As you see we're mighty grand!

by
Mrs. Generose Jones

Among the activities that the Junior Class sponsored was the Junior-Senior Party on Jan. 19, 1966. The theme was "Aloha." They were also hosts of the Junior-Senior Prom on May 13 at Madura's Danceland and the Post-Prom Party at San Remo Restaurant.

Junior Class Color Day was March 16 and Junior Dress-Up Day was April 14.

Class colors were navy-blue and baby blue. "Find a way or make one" was the class motto. The flower was a white carnation tipped with navy-blue.

The class sponsors were Miss Mildred Ritter and Mr. Jack Hayden.

CLASS YELL

Cross your t's and
Dot your i's,
We're the Juniors
Big and wise.

Sing your praises
With a wow,
We're the Junior Class
And how!

An open book can open doors

In our recruiting we ask that applicants have completed their High School education. That's because we try always to fill higher, more responsible jobs from the ranks of our employees. And the records show—the better the employee's education, the better he is at his job—and the better he does for himself.

Inland employees continue to gain knowledge and experience in special trades through formal apprenticeship programs offered in the following trades—Machinist, Patternmaking, Boilermaking, Welding, Shop Electrician, Wireman, Mason and Pipefitter.

Many concentrate on certain phases of steelmaking by working in production while others work in laboratories helping to assure quality or developing new and better products for our customers.

How about you? Inland Steel is steadily expanding. More and more opportunities will be open to you as our growth continues. Are you ready?

YOUR FUTURE'S BRIGHT IN

NIPSCOLAND

*We will be happy to discuss your career opportunities at NIPSCO
... drop in and see us!*

If your eyes are on far horizons following graduation, here's a suggestion from Peppy Flame and Reddy Kilowatt: Look around you right here in NIPSCOLAND!

There are vast and challenging opportunities in northern Indiana for trained young men and women in industry, commerce and agriculture. Some of the greatest challenges await the talent and imagination of young people in the investor-owned utility business.
